NATIONAL STANDARDS FOR PERSONAL FINANCIAL EDUCATION

The National Standards for Personal Financial Education, which are published by the Jump$tart Coalition and the Council for Economic Education, provide a framework for teaching personal finance in kindergarten through 12th grade, and contain areas of knowledge and understanding that are fundamental to personal finance. Standards are published at the 4th, 8th, and 12th grade levels; the table below shows alignment between Money Smart for Young People and the 8th grade standards.

	Lesson 1 “The Path to Success”		Lesson 2 “Bread and Butter”		Lesson 3 “Designing Dreams”		Lesson 4 “Being a Savvy Shopper”		Lesson 5 “Go with the Flow”		Lesson 6 “Super Savers”		Lesson 7 “How to Stash Your Cash”

EARNING INCOME
1. Careers are based on working at jobs in the same occupation or profession for many years. Careers vary in their education and training requirements.	X	X
2. People make many decisions over a lifetime about their education, jobs, and careers that affect their incomes and opportunities.	X	X			X	X
3. Getting more education, training, and experience can increase a person’s human capital, productivity, and income-earning potential.	X	X
4. Education, training, and development of job skills have opportunity costs in the form of time, effort, and money.	X	X				X
5. Net income (take-home pay) is the amount left from wages and salaries after taxes and payroll deductions.									X	X
6. Social Security is a federal government program that taxes workers and employers to provide retirement, disability, and survivor income benefits for workers or their dependents.			X	X
7. People are required to pay taxes on most types of income, including wages, salaries, commissions, tips, earnings on investments, and self-employment income.			X	X
9. Entrepreneurs gain satisfaction from working for themselves and expect to earn profits that will compensate for the risks associated with new business ventures.	X

SPENDING
1. Creating a budget can help people make informed choices about spending, saving, and managing money in order to achieve financial goals.									X	X
2. Making an informed purchase decision requires a consumer to critically evaluate price, product claims, and quality information from a variety of sources.							X	X
3. When evaluating information about goods and services, a consumer can better assess the quality and usefulness of the information by understanding the incentives of the information provider.							X	X
4. Consumers weigh the costs and benefits of different payment methods to determine the best option for purchasing goods and services.							X	X
SAVING
1. People save money for many different purposes, including large purchases such as cars and homes, education costs, retirement, and emergencies.											X	X	X	X
2. Savings decisions depend on individual preferences and circumstances, and can impact personal satisfaction and financial well-being											X	X	X	X
3. Financial institutions pay interest to depositors and loan out the money to borrowers who pay interest on their loans.											X	X	X	X
4. Interest earned on savings is the interest rate multiplied by the balance in the account, which includes the original amount saved (principal) and previously earned interest.													X	X
5. Compound interest is interest on both the original principal and previously earned interest, as compared to simple interest which is only interest on the original principal.													X	X
6. Checking and saving deposit accounts in many financial institutions are insured up to certain limits by the federal government.													X	X

INVESTING
1. Investors in financial assets expect an increase in value over time (capital gain) and/or receipt of regular income, such as interest or dividends.	X	X
2. Common types of financial assets include certificates of deposit (CDs), stocks, bonds, mutual funds, and real estate.	X	X
4. Investors who buy corporate stock become part-owners of a business, benefit from potential increases in the value of their shares, and may receive dividend income.	X	X
5. Instead of buying individual stocks and bonds, investors can buy shares of pooled investments such as mutual funds and exchange-traded funds (ETFs).	X	X
6. Different types of investments expose investors to different degrees of risk.	X	X					X	X
MANAGING CREDIT
1. Interest rates and fees vary by type of lender, type of credit, and market conditions.			X	X
2. Financial institutions advertise loan costs to potential borrowers using the Annual Percentage Rate (APR), expressed as an annual percentage of the loan principal. Low introductory rates offered to attract customers may increase later.			X	X
4. Credit cards typically charge higher interest rates on balances due compared with rates on other types of loans.			X	X
5. Lenders charge different interest rates based on borrower risk of nonpayment, which is commonly evaluated using information in the borrower’s credit report.			X	X
6. When people borrow money to invest in higher education or housing, the risks and costs may be outweighed by the future benefits.			X	X			X	X
7. Borrowing increases debt and can negatively affect a person’s finances.			X	X

MANAGING RISK

2. Insurance is a financial product that allows people to pay a fee (premium) to transfer the cost of a potential financial loss to an insurance company.						X	X
3. An insurance company creates a pool of funds from many policyholders’ premium payments and then uses these funds to compensate customers who experience a loss. People at higher risk for making a claim usually have to pay a higher premium.						X	X
4. Four key insurance terms that contribute to out-of-pocket costs with an insurance policy are: premium, deductible, copayments, and co-insurance.						X	X
5. People can choose to avoid, reduce, retain, or transfer risk through the purchase of insurance. Each option has different costs and benefits.						X	X
7. Identity theft is the use of someone else’s personal identification information to commit a crime.				X	X
